

GERMAN YOUTH MAY ESCAPE THE FAYETTE COUNTY GALLOWS.

Point Marion Residents Doubt Whether Gruber is Guilty of the Ringle Murder.

EVIDENCE DAMAGING TO HIM

There Are Other Developments, However, Which May Result in Acquittal of the Accused—Attorneys Volunteer Services and Will Fight.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 30.—Louis Gruber may not be the murderer of Frank Ringle in spite of the damning chain of circumstantial evidence, the Commonwealth is fast learning about him. The residents of Point Marion are divided in their views, but most of them do not believe the German lad killed his benefactor. Attorney John Dugan, Junior, has volunteered his services to defend Gruber and has enlisted Attorney E. C. Higbee to assist him. They will employ detectives to work on the case and investigate every clue that might throw light on the mysterious murder.

Latest developments are that Ringle was killed with a sledge hammer and not an iron bar; and that the murder was committed in the garage and not in Gruber's room above. This blood stains in Gruber's room, it is now said, in all probability did come from the nose-bled victim which the German youth was afflicted.

Ringle's disappearance did not cause surprise in Point Marion. Residents there say that the old man had confided to them that as soon as he could dispose of certain interests in the town he would leave. Domestic trouble, the cause assigned for Ringle's intention to leave Point Marion.

The defense will endeavor to ignore the fact that a witness who was seen to enter the garage of W. H. Harve, during the early morning hours, following the day Ringle disappeared. The woman was dressed in black. It was between 2 and 3 o'clock that the car stopped in a side street and remained for more than 20 minutes. The three held a whispered conversation. One of the men is said to have entered the garage from the rear and was later followed by the others. They remained within for some time and then returned to the automobile and drove off.

Gruber, in the county jail, maintains he is innocent and says he will explain many things when the time comes. He has been advised not to talk of the crime to anyone. He is less communicative as a consequence.

On August 15 Deputy Sheriff Jesse Herz, who resides in Point Marion, had occasion to visit the garage of William Harve, in which the crime was committed, and brought with him two sledge hammers to be used in breaking up a lot of scrap iron. The heaviest tool weighed 16 pounds while the smaller one was six pounds lighter. Both were placed beside a stack of automobile tires near the entrance to the garage. That was the last thought of them until an investigation yesterday morning. County Detective McBeth found the heavy one where Herz said he had placed it, but the ten pound hammer was missing. After a few minutes search it was brought to light in the rear of the building, standing behind a chair.

It has also developed that the crime was not committed in the room of Louis Gruber, but on the ground floor of the building within a yard of where the sledge hammer was found. This has been made certain. Though it had been reported that the walls and furniture of Gruber's room were found to be covered with blood, such was not the case, and the room was found in exactly the condition that the accused boy says it is. On the floor, near the window in the room were found about 15 spots of blood, which Gruber insists came from a hemorrhage of the nose. Detective McBeth is certain that this, first supposed to be one of the important clues in the case, has no connection with the murder mystery. He further believes Ringle was not in the boy's room, either dead or alive, on the day of the tragedy.

most important link in the chain of circumstantial evidence that is tightening about the German youth every hour.

The story of Mrs. John Shutzinger, an aunt of the boy and at whose home he was arrested, is most damaging to his case. She was questioned further yesterday by the detectives, finally admitting that Gruber had changed his trousers at her home on the night of August 16. Mrs. Shutzinger at once complied with the request for the trousers, which were found to be covered with mud. They were taken to the garage where the body was found, and the earth which had adhered to the cloth was found to be the same as that over which it was necessary to crawl to reach the spot. The sledge is erected on posts set in the ground. There is a space about two and a half feet high under the floor, and in order to enter here, one has to get down on the hands and knees, and crawl. Owing to the chafing of the substance of the earth, it sticks very easily to the hands and clothing. Hence the discovery of the trousers is thought to have taken Gruber that much nearer conviction.

Yesterday a careful search was made of the opening under the building. The result was the finding of the shovel with which the grave was dug. This will hardly be of value as evidence against Gruber, but explains a fact that had as yet been unsolved. There were several opinions as to how the grave was dug, some believing that the murderer had used his hands.

Mrs. Shutzinger will be one of the strongest witnesses for the Commonwealth at the trial. On the night of the 16th, she says, Gruber appeared at her home about midnight, having driven eight miles from Point Marion, in a buggy. He did not appear to be excited or did not make any remarks in regard to his late visit, except that he had come to give her $30 he had earned. His trousers were covered with mud, and after changing them, he left the home to make the return trip.

Though the detectives will not say what the nature of the evidence is that they have secured from residents in Point Marion, they admit that it implicates the boy very strongly. Remarks that he had made since the disappearance of Ringle are being very carefully guarded for future use.

According to McBeth's theory of the crime, Ringle went to the garage on the morning of the 16th to call Gruber for breakfast. After entering the door of the building, he was never seen again. The theory is that Gruber, knowing that Ringle had a roll of bills in his pocket, laid in wait for him and, after he had left, he killed him over the left ear, above the cheekbone, and could not have been delivered from behind. Strange to say, the flesh had not been broken, though there was a dent in the skull corresponding in size to the end of the sledge hammer. There was not a drop of blood showing. As the hammer was in the other end of the building prior to the crime, it is evident that the murderer had well laid his plans for the dastardly deed. Robbery is the only motive for which anyone would have killed "Daddy" and there are a number of witnesses who will testify that Gruber had seen the roll of bills Ringle was carrying.

About August 15, the impression was started in Point Marion that Ringle had drawn over $3,000 from the bank, preparatory to leaving the village. From this it would appear that the murderer expected to make a rich haul, thinking they would secure this amount.

A coincidence of the case is the fact that the body was buried almost under the place where the killing is supposed to have occurred. This would make about 50 feet to drag the body after the killing.

Big Barn Burns at Star Junction; Contents Lost

Special to The Courier.

PERMYONOLIS, Aug. 30.—The barn of the Washington and Coke Company on the Reynolds farm was totally destroyed by fire, which was discovered at 8:30 last evening. The barn and contents, a large shed adjoining and a threshing machine were destroyed. Only through valiant efforts of the fire fighters was the residence of Mrs. Reuben Reynolds and family saved.

It is supposed the fire originated from a spark from the threshing machine. The barn was well filled with the season's crops and the loss will total several thousand dollars. There was some insurance.

This is the third or fourth time barns on this farm have been burned in the last five years.

Kicks Registered by Patrons About B. & O. Service

Complaints are being made about the crowded conditions of the B. & O. trains in and out of Pittsburgh in the past few days, yesterday, especially. Local travel to Pittsburgh yesterday was larger than usual and the majority of the passengers had to stand going into and coming out of the city.

A number of complaints have also been made by Fairmont passengers who are frequently held up in Connellsville often for half an hour in order to accommodate Pittsburgh passengers coming in on the Cumberland accommodation. In order to accommodate these passengers the accommodation should be given enough time to arrive here on scheduled time, travelers say.

Gas Too High so Glass Company May Dodge Smithfield

Special to The Courier.

SMITHFIELD, Aug. 30.—It is said that because of the high gas rates Smithfield will not get the new glass plant which had an option on a site near town. The company had figured on securing its gas from the new plant recently developed near Massontown, making it necessary to pipe but three miles. The gas company declined to give a rate that would justify the erection of the plant.

The Star Gas Company does not have a supply sufficient to run the proposed plant. The price asked by the Massontown company, it is said, was just about double the price charged by the Star Gas Company.

HERO BEATS WIFE.

Aged Man Who Stopped Stopped at Gettysburg Routed by Daughter.

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—George W. Riddell, 76 years old, who claims to have stopped the stampede at the battle of Gettysburg, was arrested today on charges of beating his wife, aged 65, and his adopted daughter, Blanche, aged 18.

The wife may die. When he tackled the girl he was routed.

Mrs. John Schutzing, visited the accused in the jail today. They urged Gruber to confess but he refused. Gruber did tell of the murder he committed in Austria. He followed a Michael Steiner into the woods and struck him down with an axe to secure $500 in gold he had seen. Owing to his youth he was given only three months in a reformatory and then deported to the United States.

County Detective Alex McBeth declares the Commonwealth has sufficient evidence already to convict Gruber of murder in the first degree. McBeth insists he committed the crime unaided and is convinced he had no accomplice.

WEST PENN. HAS ITS PICNIC TODAY.

First of the Two Days Annual Outing is at Oakford Park.

OVER 2,500 MAKE THE TRIP

Special Care Given While Others Go on the Regular Ones, During the Day—All Divisions Are Well Represented.

"Hurrah for the West Penn!" is the general shout that rises from the vicinity of Oakford Park today. Over 2,500 employees of the company are today enjoying their cool breezes among the trees at the popular West Penn picnic ground, at the expense of the West Penn. This is the fifth annual outing that has been held by the company, all of which have been more than successful. Bright and early this morning, the picnic train for the company left the local station for the Oakford Park picnic ground. The train was pulled by a large crowd and the following cars, including the regular cars, all of which have been packed today, there was probably 1,500 people taken from the city region. An extra was added at Mt. Pleasant, and two left Uniontown at 7:30.

While the residents of this region were being whisked towards the park on this end of the line, special cars were engaged in hauling the employees of the West Penn Railway towards the same destination, and by the time noon arrived there was over 2,500 people on the grounds. This includes what is known as the night men of the West Penn Railway, Pittsburgh, McKeesport, and Greensburg. Railway Company, Latrobe, Street, Railway Company, West Penn Electric Company, Westmoreland Electric Company, Arden Electric Light & Power Company, Jeannette Electric Light Company, Manor Electric Company, and the West Newton Electric Company.

Nothing was lacking in the way of amusements, the company furnishing croquet, tennis and coffee free of charge. Several of the attractions at the park will be made free to the crowd today, including the merry-go-round and the dancing pavilion. Kettering's five-piece orchestra will be present to furnish music for the occasion.

All kinds of sports will be indulged in throughout the day. This morning's program included baseball games, boys' shoe scramble, three-legged race, and then dinner. The last is the most important feature of the day.

This afternoon will be a busy one. At 4 o'clock a big thing will be doing every minute until 8 o'clock. There will be peanut scramble, tug-of-war, eight pound shot put, baseball, fat men's race and team men's race.

Walk Too Much; Nonagenarian is Overcome

OWENSDALE, Aug. 30.—Robert Henderson, aged 90, a well known resident of Lower Tyrone township, living near Dawson, almost lost his life by walking from Valley Works to this place to pay a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Stephen Boyd last evening.

Mr. Henderson has been visiting at the home of his son, James Henderson, at Moyer for almost a week. Yesterday he took the railway for Valley and from there he intended to walk to Owensdale but was overcome by weakness before he had gotten out of the city village. The Valley delivery wagon happened to pass him immediately after he was overcome and he was loaded into the wagon and brought here. For a time his life was in the balance but he rallied after a few hours. His condition was reported somewhat better this morning.

Mr. Henderson for the past several years has frequently walked from his home to this place to visit his daughter with but little exertion but his last trip almost proved fatal. He is 90 years old and has walked from his home to the cemetery every day.

Riverside Has a Small Blaze During Night

Fire caused by the explosion of a pot of metal in the shop of the Riverside Metal Refining Company, at the corner of Cedar avenue and Vinc street, at 1:30 this morning, caused damage to the amount of $10.

The fire was discovered by the watchman, who turned in an alarm from box 313, corner of Green and Pittsburgh streets. The firemen made a record run to the scene, arriving on the scene before the alarm had ceased to sound. No one was in sight near the box, and there was some delay in finding the location of the fire. When the water was finally turned on the men made short work of the flames. One side of the frame building was burned.

While the attention of the firemen was attracted towards the fire, someone turned in a second alarm. This resulted in the wilder being sounded and served to stir up more excitement.

Valley Farmers Harvest Home at Killarney

On September 10th, at Killarney Park, the farmers of Indian Creek valley plan to hold the largest outing ever held in their interests. It is what is known as the "Harvest Home" and will be attended by the farmers and their families for miles around. The event is an annual affair and has always proved very enjoyable.

September 3rd the J. O. U. A. M. will hold their annual picnic at Indian Head. Two days later will be the Red Men's day at Killarney Park. This order will come from Connellsville and vicinity and a big turnout is expected.

RIVER GOES UP.

It Went Way Down Last Night But Rises Three Inches.

Though the Yough continued to drop yesterday from 0.42 feet to 0.40 by this morning it had risen to 0.61, a difference of over three inches. How this could come about is hard to explain owing to the fact that no rain fell during the night.

It may be that the reservoirs and pumping stations along the river are not drawing as heavily on the supply as they have during the last few days. By night time it is expected that it will begin to drop again.

DISORDER IN SPAIN.

Further disorder is expected.

Missing Child on Street Car Proves to Be Only a Baby Doll.

A clever hoax was perpetrated on several West Penn officials this morning when it was reported that Morcomman John Katting of the South Connellsville line had discovered an abandoned baby at the conclusion of his $300 run this morning. A hurried call was sent out along the line to find the missing child. That was the end of the matter. The baby was a doll.

Susie Bright Drank Too Much; Trio is Pulled

When two colored men and a woman of the same shade got together with a bottle of whiskey there is usually trouble. Such was the case at the home of Mrs. Susie Bright, better known as the Old Murrill house, on Orchard alley, opposite the police station, last evening.

Max Stewart, who says that he is a waiter, was walking past the City Hall when he beheld Mrs. Bright beckoning him across the street. He turned his steps in the direction of the fair damsel, who invited him to purchase a bottle of whiskey and accompany her home, which he did. There they were joined by William G. Halline, another waiter, who just happened to drop in for a social chat. The booze was served and not long after the police were called.

Chief of Police Hetzel was the first to arrive and found Halline with the back of his head cut open, and most of his clothing off. Mrs. Bright insisted that Max wielded the knife, though the weapon was not to be found.

All detailed knowledge of the affair this morning, and were each fined $3.50 or 48 hours. The charge was being drunk, disorderly conduct and fighting.

Three drunks and three sleepers were all sentenced.

Busy Bee Has Gone Under and Owners Leave

loved on the goods and chattels of Louis Scourie and John Testik one West Main street by what is known as the Busy Bee restaurant. Suit was brought before Judge W. F. Clark by E. U. Hetzel today to recover $200 rent due him, and the place was closed up.

"The place really closed last night. When several people went there to see their supper, they were told that the proprietors had 'gone to the place.' It is said that both left Fairmont yesterday morning.

This is the second time that this restaurant has had trouble since it opened up business some time ago.

Portugal Looks for Trouble From Vatican at Rome

United Press Telegram.

LISBON, Aug. 30.—Following the lead of Premier Cambes of Spain, Premier Sousa of Portugal today ordered vigorous inquiry into the religious orders in that country. Especial attention will be given to the foreign orders.

It is expected many will be expelled, resulting in a breach between the Vatican and Portugal.

Object to Billy Sunday.

Elks Will Attend.

The Elks will attend the funeral of the late Q. L. Pore in a body Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Pore was a charter member of Connellsville lodge No. 505. The members of the lodge will meet at the Elks' Home at 1 o'clock and proceed from there to the Pore residence.

Lesington Man Claims He Was Hurt in Trolley Car.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 30.—A damage suit filed this morning by Joseph Handrups of Lesington against the West Penn Railway Company. He claims that on December 13th last, he was making a trip from Uniontown to Greensburg. At Armstrong a feed wire broke and fell against the window where he was sitting.

Besides being badly cut by the flying glass, he claims his frontal bone was fractured, making him subject to epileptic fits. He wants $15,000.

Corn Crop Injured.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 30.—Farmers fear that the corn crop this year will not be more than a half yield, if that. This crop has been caught coming and going. WILL HOLD A SMOKER THEN Buffet Luncheon Will Be Served the Members and the "Get Together" Spirit Will Be Manifest—May Talk Industrial Exposition Too.

"Connellsville as a Borough and as a Third Class City" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Attorney E. C. Higbee at the quarterly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, next Thursday evening. The form of the affair will be more as a smoker. A buffet luncheon will be served. It is planned to make the meeting as sociable as possible. Refreshments will be served consisting of sandwiches, pickles, coffee and cigars.

This will be the first meeting for some months. The principal purpose being to discuss Connellsville as a third class city. It is planned to show the relative advantages of the town as it is and as it will be, if the application for a charter as a third class city is made this fall. The matter will be thoroughly gone over and it may be decided to suggest to Council that a resolution be passed authorizing the people to vote on the proposition at the November election.

Under the law it requires four weeks notice before the people can vote on the matter, and it is said that the Chamber will suggest that the matter be closed up as soon as possible.

Another matter that may be taken up, is the suggestion of holding another exposition similar to the one held in the autumn last year but on a much larger scale. Some of the merchants are against the proposition, contending that there is little benefit derived from such affairs. Others, however, are rather enthusiastic towards the subject. It is proposed to hold the exposition annually should it prove worthy, and to interest local manufacturers throughout the whole region to send exhibits.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce will be held this afternoon at 3:30. Nothing would be given out this morning in regards to the matters to be taken up.

It is said that they refer to several new industries which the board hopes to secure in the near future for Connellsville.

Morgan Valley Again Visited by Burglars

Special to The Courier.

OWENSDALE, Aug. 30.—Burglars tried to force an entrance into the home of Michael DeWalt, Sunday evening by "jimmying" the parlor window. A couple of shots from a revolver caused the marauders to take to their heels and almost outrival Currier in availing over the landscape.

There was an attempted burglary at Morgan Station but they were scared away there also. This is the third attempt to burglarize in the Morgan valley this week. The last attempt has caused the valley's population to sit up and take notice.

TRIES SUICIDE IN SWELL HOTEL.

Unidentified Girl Shoots Herself in Retiring Room of the Astor in New York—Looks Fashionable.

United Press Telegram.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—An unidentified girl, about 25 years old, is in the Flower hospital today with a police man at her bedside ready to arrest her as soon as she improves. She is supposed to have committed suicide last night in the Hotel Astor.

Her clothing is fashionable and she appears refined. She had previously removed all marks of identification. She refuses to tell her name and pleads with the doctors and nurses to let her die. She is expected to recover.

The bullet lodged in her breast. She entered the hotel at midnight went to the ladies' retiring room, drew the revolver and fired. The shot created a panic in the dining room and kitchen.

Symptoms of peritonitis have developed and the girl's condition is serious. A man and two women called at the hospital but were not allowed to see the girl. A letter to the girl's mother was found on her.

It is deplorable a girl cannot get along honorably in New York. In some things I might succeed if I conformed to the wishes of men cultured and usually moneyed, but minus morals.

$85,000 GUNS TO LAST 70 ROUNDS.

Uncle Sam's Armament for Now Dreadnought Expensive.

TONNAGE FIGURES ENORMOUS

Two New Battleships Greater Than Entire American Fleet at Time of Spanish War—Fourteen Inch Rifles Largest in History of World's Warfare and Most Costly.

At its last session the congress authorized the construction of two battleships of war and stipulated that they be armed with fourteen inch rifles, the most powerful weapons yet constructed. These guns cost $85,000 each, and although it seems incredible, yet it is no less true that under the excessive pressures of battle conditions the life of these expensive weapons is only seventy rounds.

The distinctive features of these Dreadnoughts lie in the tremendous battery which they are designed to carry and the increased size which the increase in the weight and power of the main battery has made necessary.

The plans contemplate a displacement of about 27,000 tons as against the 20,000 of the Delaware and the North Dakota, America's pioneer battleships of the Dreadnought type, which were but recently commissioned.

Greater Than 1898 Fleet.

The United States navy of the present is far greater than was our entire battle-ship tonnage at the time of the war with Spain, including even the battleships, whose destruction brought about the war. The fleet that blockaded Santiago was reckoned as a formidable one in its day, the battle line comprising the superb Iowa, the heavily armed and armored Indiana, Massachusetts and Oregon and the hard fighting old Texas.

So much for the size of the two new vessels. Turn now to their armament. The plans contemplate a battery of ten fourteen-inch rifles for each ship. These weapons are by far the most powerful ever constructed for any navy, greatly exceeding in range and hitting power the twelve inch guns with which the Delaware and the North Dakota are armed.

With a weight of 633 tons the new gun is more than ten times heavier than the two inch gun carried by the Dreadnoughts that the United States now has in commission. The weight of the projectile which the new gun will carry is 1,400 pounds. The weight of the powder charge will be about 450 pounds. The designed muzzle energy of the new weapon is 65,000 foot tons.

Example is Appalling.

To translate this into plain English and to afford some idea of what this power means, let the reader suppose the 15,000 tons of the battleship Connecticut displaced on top of the Louisiana, whose displacement is 22,500 tons, and the highest of the Fall River steamships superimposed on top of it. Next try to conceive of the halted weight of the three and the power that would be required to lift them. The muzzle energy of this gun exerted at the moment of discharge is so tremendous that it would be able to lift all three vessels one foot.

The mechanism of the carriage must in the fraction of a second take up and absorb a shock equal to that of a heavy engine and five Pullman coaches running at a speed of seventy miles an hour and brought to a sudden stop—a stop as sudden as though such a train had crashed into a stone wall.

This energy is sufficient to drive the projectile through twenty-two and one-half inches of the hardest of steel armor at the muzzle, while at a range of 3,000 yards the projectile, moving at the rate of 2,235 feet per second, can pierce eighteen and one-half inches of steel armor at normal range.

Life is Seventy Rounds.

One of the ordnance experts of the navy made some calculations which go to show that if one of these new fourteen inch rifles was constantly subjected to excessive pressure, such as might obtain in a hot action, the gun could not last more than seventy rounds.

The length of the gun is a fraction more than 53 feet—54 inches, to be exact. Although the muzzle velocity of the projectile is 2,600 feet a second, the ordnance experts have figured that it requires one-tenth of a second for the shell to leave the gun, this because of the fact that the shell moves from zero to 2,600 feet and that the mean velocity must be taken. This mean being one-tenth of a second, the actual life of this $85,000 weapon is shown to be only seven seconds.

Judging from the performance of the twelve inch guns, these greater weapons should be able to deliver three shots a minute. If all ten guns of the projected Dreadnought should be brought into action and should maintain that rapidity of fire for one hour the cost of the ammunition expended in the hour would reach the enormous sum of $2,520,000, or about one-fourth of the vessel's entire cost.

Perryopolis High School Opened Its Term Yesterday

Special to The Courier.

PERRYOPOLIS, Aug. 30.—The Perryopolis High School opened its term yesterday with an enrollment of 16, somewhat lower than last year. There are 12 Seniors, 19 Juniors and 15 Freshmen.

Prof. T. S. Dracken was in charge with Miss Altha French as teacher of the languages and Miss Mabel Hecker as instructor in the English courses. Principal Dracken teaches mathematics.

One new branch, bookkeeping, has been introduced this term. A new innovation is providing for elective study for the Senior and Junior students. The publication of the High School paper and school athletics will be resumed in the near future.

Fight Pictures at the Soisson Theatre Today

The first appearance of the Joffries Johnson fight pictures in Fayette county will be at the Soisson theatre this afternoon and evening. Connellsville is one of the first towns in the state, outside of Pittsburgh, to have an opportunity to see these pictures.

Reports from Pittsburgh and Greensburg, where the pictures were shown, say the pictures are unusually good. There will be a matinee this afternoon and two performances this evening, beginning at 7 and 9 o'clock. The advance sale is unusually good for the attraction. This is the first attraction of the Soisson since the close of the summer stock season.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES

Enjoy Using Herpelids' on Account of Its Discriminateness

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpelids speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it always that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpelids effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness. In killing it, Herpelids stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it is an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpelids Co., Detroit, Mich.

One dollar bottles guaranteed; Graham & Co., Special Agents.

BRING BODY HERE.

George Cunningham Will Be Buried in Hill Grove Cemetery.

The remains of the late George Cunningham will be brought here from Uniontown tomorrow morning on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie train due here at 10.10 and removed to Hill Grove Cemetery by funeral director J. L. Sims for interment.

Deceased was well known in Dunbar township and in Connellsville. He was 50 years old and born in Dunbar township. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham and at the age of eight years he went to Canby, O., with his parents to reside. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in Ohio but he never practiced to any great extent. He was a nephew of James Cunningham who conducted a restaurant in Connellsville for several years. He was unmarried.

WEDDING A SURPRISE.

McClain Crossland and Mrs. Lillian Blackburn Married Wednesday.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of McClain Crossland, a well known resident of the West Side, and Mrs. Lillian Blackburn, daughter of Mrs. James McCoy of Sycamore street. The ceremony was performed last Wednesday in Pittsburgh at the Presbyterian parsonage, Rev. L. M. Patterson, the pastor, officiating.

The announcement of the marriage came as a great surprise to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Crossland. On having heard their friends were under the impression that they were going to Kentucky next to attend the merchant outing. Mr. and Mrs. Crossland will reside in the West Side.

Agad Couple Robbed.

CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—A negro thief who robbed the residence of Thomas Jacobs, scattered about five pounds of cayenne pepper about the house to prevent the scent being picked up should bloodhounds be placed on the trail. Mrs. Mary E. Jacobs, 73 years old, mother of Thomas Jacobs, who was asleep on the first floor, was chloroformed, the thief being poured on the bed clothing and the windows and doors closed.

Territories Will Hear How to Make a Constitution

United Press Telegram.

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 30.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived today and is scheduled to discuss the proposed constitutions of Arizona and New Mexico. Pueblo is the nearest point he will reach the former territories. He is expected to argue in favor of an elastic and easily amended Constitution. He is also expected to say the idea of the Constitution should be progressive. He believes all points must be in the best Constitutions and if they are by a class making amendments difficult or impossible, the people would be powerless to correct abuses.

Tries to Murder Special Agent in G. N. Building

United Press Telegram.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 30.—Charles Welch, a discharged traveling watchman attempted to assassinate Chief Special Agent A. G. Ray of the Great Northern railroad in the company's building here today.

"He fired five ineffective shots, Ray, sitting at his desk, returned the fire and killed Welch. The assassin, before he died, threw a plate bottle of nitroglycerine to the floor. It was wrapped in paper and did not explode. It was enough to have wrecked the 19 story building.

Ray was arrested but the police corroborate his plea of self defense.

ONLY ONE OF HIS KIND.

The Reason the Judge Refused to Hang on to the Horse.

During the second Cleveland campaign Colonel John P. Irish, the golden tongued orator, and Judge Kinna of Waterloo, Ia., the man with lungs of brass, were stumping Iowa in behalf of the Democratic candidate.

They were driving in a buggy on the road to Sidney, a young city in the southwestern part of the state, when they came to a fork of the road where there was no sign board. Which turn to take was a question, as they had barely time to make the town anyway.

"There's a farmhouse over there a bit. You sit still, and I'll go over and ask questions," said Irish, and, climbing out, he started for the desired information. He got it and on his return saw the horse, evidently frightened at something, tearing down the road at runaway speed. Instead of trying to stop the horse, Judge Kinna dropped the reins, climbed over the seat and dropped off the back of the buggy into the road.

When Irish caught up to him the judge was busily dusting himself off after his roll in the roadways, not in the least disgraced by his acrobatic stunt.

"You're on the right fork of the road, all right, Judge, but why didn't you hang on to the horse?" asked Irish, laughing heartily.

"Why didn't I hang on to him?" replied Kinna in his deep, subterranean voice. "I'll tell you, I didn't, my Christian friend. There's lots of horse in this world, but there is but one Judge Kinna."—Los Angeles Times.

TEMPTING TABBY.

Russ That Won a Satisfactory Poss For the Camera.

The repairs on the house were completed and the shavings swept out; also a new coat of paint added brightness to the outside. What next but a photograph of the place? That being considered, the question of moment was how to pose Katusha.

Rolled into a ball every cat looks like every other cat; hence it was Katusha in action that must grace the foreground. Being absolutely cold and fat, Katusha was the last thing that occurred to Katusha. Coaxing and likewise prodding made no headway. She had been known upon occasion to be stirred by a morsel of delectable food. But fancy an aristocratic feline pictured in the attitude of toying at a chicken bone! Impossible for Katusha.

There arose an emergency and with it the mistress who disappeared into the house and brought forth a branch of Japanese paper cherry blossoms. A wave of them before Katusha's eyes was like making some hypnotic pass. She got up, stretched her body, while her nose just reached the pinkish flowers. That was it! They appealed to her aesthetic sense.

Snap went the camera. It was perfect.

"How!" began the man of the house.

"Just the alluring fragrance of a silver of chicken scattered in the bough," said herself as Katusha rolled back into a ball.—Kansas City Star.

Change of Front.

The Groom—Great heavens, who is this coming up? The Bride—Why, that is Aunt Maria! The Groom—Well, have I got to embrace that old lady? The Bride—Oh, it was she that sent you the handsome silver service. She's worth thousands! The Groom (kissing her rapturously)—My darling aunt!—London Answers.

Cheese It!

"What do boys mean when they say 'cheese it'?"

"It means that something mischievous has a curd and they want to get a whey."

ANYTHING FOR STYLE

Has-Do you mean to say you feel inferior to the ladies? When I certainly wouldn't feel comfortable if I was out of style.

SOCIETY.

Old Folks' Reunion Plans.

At the September meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church arrangements will be made for the annual reunion of old folks to be held in the church in September. This is one of the most important events of the year to the old folks of Connellsville. Invitations are issued not only to members of the Methodist Episcopal Church but to other denominations as well. Committees will be appointed and the date for holding the reunion will be set. As heretofore the old folks who are unable to walk to the church will be conveyed to and from the church in carriages.

Haley was hostess at a delightful children's party yesterday afternoon at her home on York avenue in honor of the fifth birthday anniversary of her small son, Jesse, Jr. A number of his little friends were present and spent a very enjoyable afternoon. Various children's games were played and dainty refreshments were served.

FIRST POST HOUSES.

Established by Cyrus, the Founder of the Persian Empire.

The first post is said to have originated in the regular couriers established by Cyrus the Great about 550 B. C. who erected post houses throughout the kingdom of Persia. Augustus was the first to introduce this institution among the Romans, 31 B. C. and he was imitated by Charlemagne about 800 A. D. Louis XI. was the first sovereign to establish post houses in France, owing to his eagerness for news, and they were also the first institution of this nature in Europe.

This was in 1470, or about 2,000 years after they were started in Persia. In England in the reign of Edward IV. (1461) riders on post horses went stages of the distance of twenty miles from each other in order to procure the king the earliest intelligence of the events that passed in the course of the day. The first post office in America was established by Charles I. in 1631 that, "whereas this time there hath been no certain intercourse between the kingdoms of England and Scotland, the king now commands his postmaster of England for foreign parts to settle a running post or two between Edinburgh and London to go thither and come back again in six days."

Elephants' Love For Fire.

Strange as it may seem the elephant is passionately fond of fiery and delights to see himself decked out with gorgeous trappings. The native princes of India are very particular in choosing their state elephants and will give fabulous sums for an animal that excellently meets the somewhat fanciful standards they have erected. For these they have made robes of silks and heavily embroidered with gold that two men are hardly able to lift them.

Instant Relief for Sore Feet.

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time! TIZ Makes Sore Feet Well! No Matter What Ails Them.

Policemen all over the world use TIZ. Policemen stand on their feet all day and know what sore, tender, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition, read what this policeman has to say: "I was surprised and delighted with TIZ for tender feet. I hardly know how to express my appreciation for it. It's superior to powders, or plasters. I can keep my feet in perfect condition. Believe in my earnest gratitude for TIZ. I am a policeman and keep on my feet all day."—Bobby Hurrell, Assistant.

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before used. TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring up soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore, and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never again draw up your face with pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and calluses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25c per bottle or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

DEMURRAGE CAUSES PROTEST.

Coal Shipper Files Charge Against Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—A restraining injunction against alleged excessive demurrage charges and separation has been issued through the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad by the Greencow Coal and Mining Company of Chicago in a complaint filed today.

The coal company ships coal from Johnstown and Salisbury, Pa., and Cumberland, Md. It claims to have paid $50 in unlawful demurrage charges, the cause of the delay in unloading being the failure of the Baltimore & Ohio to make prompt delivery of coal cars to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, the associate carrier into the coal company's yards and territory.

The coal company asks an injunction preventing the Baltimore & Ohio from making collection of demurrage charges arising through its own or another railroad's fault, and a refund of $50 paid out in such demurrage charges.

NO FESTIVAL.

Morgan Boys Decide Not to Hold It Labor Day.

OWENSDALE, Aug. 32.—The festival scheduled for Labor Day, when Charles B. Frank's Lancers team will play polo, has been called off, but will be held at some future date, when an independent team will be secured for the days attraction. Financial difficulties are the cause of the postponement to some future date.

Vinegar Callaghan and his sturdy Lancers tribe will travel to this place to the festival and a battle royal is expected as Callaghan's swatters have been putting up some classy baseball lately. Klingensmith and Robbins will be on the firing line for Morgan while Guman and Brady will do the battery work for Elmont.

Etiquette.

The very high sounding, word etiquette had a very humble origin, for etiquette meant simply a label. It derived its present meaning from the fact that a Scotch gardener who had laid out the grounds at Versailles for Louis XIV. was much annoyed at the courtiers walking over his newly made paths and at length had labels placed to indicate where they might walk. At first these labels were ignored, but a hint from high quarters, that in future the walks of the courtiers must be within the "etiquettes" or labels was promptly attended to. To keep within the "etiquettes" came to mean to do the correct thing.

As It Used to Be.

Munday is a philosopher in his way. The other evening Mrs. M. gave him a scolding that would have made almost any other man crazy. But Munday said never a word in reply. He only murmured to himself: "And that is the woman I used to hold on my knee and call my little tootsy wootsy!"

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC SUCCESS.

Morgan Valley Travels En
Massé to Oakford Park
Sunday.

BALL GAME WAS INTERESTING

Park Team Badly Beaten—Former Residents on Way East After Absence of Several Years—Grasshoppers and Locusts Are Plenty.

SCOTTDALE, Aug. 30.—The Jacobs Creek and Morgan Valley Sunday school picnic to Oakford park was a great success on Saturday. One of the features of the outing was a ball game between the two Sunday schools and an organized team at the park. It is said that from the way the park team talked they must have taken over everything that came up the park, but the Sunday school boys showed them a trick or two at the national game, although a few of the Sunday school boys had not played ball for years.

The first inning saw each side with a score and things looked pretty close, then Hugo Taylor came to bat with two men on bases and Hugo knocked a home run, then the ball went up and when the game concluded the scoreboard said 14 to 1 in favor of the Sunday schools. One great feature of the game was the one handed catch of Andy Thomas, Pittsburg caught to put an eye on that boy. He plays with the Morgan Valley and watch them make that left-handed team go for first place in the next league.
Jake Koser, the little Sunday school superintendent, was there with two hits. There were 140 of the Sunday school people and their friends at the picnic.

Are Coming East.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson expected to leave yesterday from their home in Kansas to return to Pennsylvania to live, after an absence of several years. Mr. Anderson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson of west of the White School House, and it is said expects to build a home on the lot that he owns along the road. This will make another new home for the fastest growing residence suburb about town.

Home From the Falls.
Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver of near Lower Merion, Pa., and Mrs. Joseph Hixon of West Overton are home from their vacation trip.

Grasshoppers Plenty.
Millions of grasshoppers are jumping about through the fields about town, and the farmers say the supply is exceedingly plentiful this season.
Many locusts are in evidence and the crops that they have hung up on trees are to be seen everywhere in the country.

Work Going Well.
Contractor John M. Pyle is going ahead rapidly on the remodeling of the Haygar building at the corner of Chestnut and Pittsburg streets, the work having reached the top of the building. The new front is in and represents a great improvement on the building.

College Opened Again.
The Peterson Business College opened after the vacation season yesterday. The enrollment is very good for this term, and more pupils will come in later, as the autumn is a favorable time for the boys and girls to get started after the fall work is about closed up.

Was in Greensburg.
Justice of the Peace C. H. Utty spent most of yesterday at the County Capital on matters connected with his office.

Up on the Cheat.
Photographer H. J. Springer has been spending a few days studying the beautiful Cheat river, up on which he is thoroughly familiar having been there for several summers.

Arrived Last Evening.
Mr. and Mrs. John G. Dowling and family and Miss Ella King arrived home last evening from a couple of weeks' sojourn at Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Toronto.

Funeral of J. K. Hagerman.
The funeral of Joseph K. Hagerman was largely attended by relatives and friends from here at Wesley Chapel Methodist Episcopal church. Mr.
Hagerman was aged 69 years and had been ill for two years with rheumatism. He is survived by a wife and family.

Young Man Dead.
Martin Strawn Willard, son of Mr.
and Mrs. B. Frank Willard of west of town is dead from Bright's disease, aged 17 years. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon, leaving the house at 2 o'clock
having services at the Wesley Chapel Methodist Episcopal church by Rev.
D. W. Mitchell, pastor of the Lutheran church of Scottsdale. The deceased was a brother of Benjamin and George Willard, employed at C. M. Jarrett's store in Scottsdale.

OFFICERS FEAR GIRL MAY BE IN DANGER

"White Slaves" Might Get Susto
Gregush, Who Ran Off With Mike Basara.

Before night Fayette county officers expect to secure information as to the whereabouts of Mike Basara, aged 30, wanted in Uniontown for the abduction of 14 year old Susto Gregush, of Isabella. In the information made before Justice Daniel M. Moore last evening he is also charged with felonious shooting. There is a reward of $10 for his arrest.

Basara is a Horvath. He had been boarding at the Gregush home over a year. He worked in the mines about Isabella. About 11 o'clock Saturday night he appeared with his room-mate, George Hamalsky. Both were under the influence of liquor. A fight followed and Hamalsky was the loser.
Gregush, who is the boarding boss started up stairs to quiet the men but was ordered back by Basara. When the former attempted to force his way up the stairs, Basara drew a revolver and fired twice, missing each time. Gregush at once retreated, and the remainder of those on the lower floor. They went for help. In the short time that elapsed while they were away, Basara disappeared. Together with Susto, who had been asleep in a room on the second floor.
Whether the girl went of her own free will has not been ascertained.
No screams were heard. Neither were there signs of a struggle. In the hurry to escape, the only thing of value picked up was a suit case into which clothing had been quickly packed. No trace of them could be found, though a search was conducted throughout the night and the next day.

The parents yesterday appealed to County Detective McBeth at Uniontown. An investigation resulted in sending telegrams to Cincinnati, the clues leading in that direction. From letters Basara left, it was learned that he had relatives in that city.
Susto was only 14 last June, but is well developed for her age. The father fears she has been abducted for immoral purposes, and offers a reward of $40 for her return.
Should the couple be located today,
Constable Charles Betts will leave this evening for Cincinnati to bring them back.

CONSTABLE BETTS IN A STRENUOUS ROLE

Has Hard Tussle With Jacob Ritten-berger and Shoots a Pot Dog.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Aug. 30.—"I felt some of my old fighting blood coming back" remarked Constable Charles Betts yesterday evening, while relating how he landed a knockout blow on the jaw of Jacob Rittenberger during the morning. The latter, a peddler from Connellsville, was arrested by Betts at Waltersburg for driving a lame horse.

Betts has only just recovered from a case of typhoid fever. Yesterday morning, he and Humane Officer Howard Ebert drove to Waltersburg on business. On the way back they passed Rittenberger, whose nag was lame in the left front leg and the right hind one. Besides this there was a large sore on his back. The officers stopped. When the man was asked to accompany them back to the village, he promptly refused and said he was going home. "You can take the horse and wagon, but I'm going home," he shouted. The big constable, backed him. Rittenberger almost jumped out of the coat that Betts grabbed. He caught him by the shirt, and off it came. Everytime Betts took hold of another piece of clothing, the peddler quickly disrobed himself of the same and was free.

But the limit was reached when Betts took hold of his trousers. Rittenberger drew his fist back and struck at his captor, just stinging the end of Betts' nose. Betts settled the man with an uppercut that stretched him flat on the road.

It required the combined efforts of these young men who happened along to lift Rittenberger into the wagon.
Just before Betts climbed up on the seat, a dog came up the road on a run, and made straight for the constable. He drew his revolver and fired, wounding the animal. Through the crowd which assembled the officers drove to the office of Squire O. J.
Hors, in Waltersburg, where the pedler was fined and ordered to pay the costs after a hearing.

During the trial, the owner of the dog appeared and threatened prosecution for mauling his pet.

W. A. PYNE BACK TO MT. PLEASANT.

His Defense Will be Temporary Insanity, It is Said.

HIS BUSINESS IS SOLD OUT

Brought $9,825 and Bidding is Spirited.
Mrs. Witt is Dead at Home—Ringle's Body Brought There—Goldstone to Quit Business.

Special to The Courier.

MT. PLEASANT, Pa., Aug. 30.—
W. A. Pyne, the missing Mt. Pleasant shoe merchant, returned to town
Sunday night as quietly as he left.
He has not been seen in public yet, but neighbors on College avenue have caught glimpses of him. His shoe store was sold at bankrupt sale yesterday morning. A large number of people were present and bid freely until the $5,000 mark was reached, after that the bids were few. H. T. Jacobs, a traveling salesman for a Baltimore shoe house bid $3,500 but Miller & Bros., of Scottsdale outbid him and the store was knocked down to them for $9,825. As Pyne's liabilities will reach $20,000, it is expected that his assets will pay about 47 cents on the dollar.

It is said Pyne will present a novel defense and claim he was temporarily insane when he left on August 3rd, and that he did not intend to leave his creditors in the lurch.

Mrs. Witt is Dead.
Mrs. Elizabeth A. Witt, aged 53 years, died last evening at 5 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs.
Martha F. Porter of Washington street, from the infirmities of old age.
The deceased was born at Bloody Run September 11, 1827, and was a daughter of Thomas and Agnes Mc-Clelland Robbins. Her early life was spent at Bedford and later she went to Cumberland, Md., where she lived until she married. This was in 1849.
Her husband was Jonathan T. Witt, a well known stone mason of Waltersburg, Somerset county. The young couple spent the first few years of their married life at Waltersburg, and later moved to Indian Head. It was at the latter place that they brought up 11 children. Four boys died but four boys and three girls survive. The sons are Albert L., of Indiana; Henry E., Edward and Charles, all of Mt.
Pleasant. The daughters are Sarah Agnes Witt, Mary A. Hunter and Martha F. Porter of this place. Mrs. Witt's husband died about five years ago of paralysis. Since that time she has resided with her children.

Mrs. Witt was a good Christian and a loyal supporter of the Church of God. She had a wide circle of friends, many of which were made because of her help which she gave during sickness and death.
Funeral services will be conducted from the residence of Adam Porter on Washington street at 8 o'clock
Thursday morning. The Rev. Samuel Brooks of Indian Head will be in charge. Interment will be made in the Nebo church yard near Indian Head.

Ringle's Body Brought Here.
The body of Frank Ringle, the wrestling man, who was killed in a lone room of an automobile garage at that place on Saturday, was brought to town this morning on the Baltimore & Ohio accommodation train at 10.40. Interment was made in the local cemetery.

Goldstone's Close Stores.
H. Goldstone & Son closed their two large clothing stores here yesterday and will quit business. Business has been bad for several months past and the firm could not weather the storm.
While the old business section of town is apparently not prosperous merchants in the new East End section are all apparently doing well.

DECISION AGAINST JONES

Referee Ferrie Says Little Kanawha
Suit Should Be Dismissed.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—Referee Franklin Ferrie, appointed by the circuit court, recommended that the suit of John S. Jones of Chicago against Joseph Ramsey, Jr., George J. Gould of New York and W. E. Guy of St.
Louis and others, composing the Little Kanawha syndicate, for a recoverability and $500,000 damages be dismissed.
The suit has been pending for five years and grew out of plans to purchase coal lands and railroad property in West Virginia and Ohio. Sale of stock was $15,000,000 and Jones claimed fees of $38,000 each to Ramsey, Gould and Guy were excessive.
He claimed also to have bought 17,000 acres of coal land to sell the syndicate and was thrown down.

Many Homes Entered.
KITTANNING, Pa., Aug. 30.—Robbers last night entered 12 residences at Windnoon, Madison township, near here, taking from each place money and valuables, hams, eggs, vegetables, jewelry, clothing and money. There among the loot. Several persons aroused by the intruders, saw the men running away.

Among the homes robbed was that of the widow of H. H. Craig, who was murdered July 23, while he was guarding the paymaster at the Windnoon mines.

The RING and the MAN

WITH SOME INCIDENTAL RELATION TO THE WOMAN
By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY
ILLUSTRATIONS BY DEARBORN MEYER

"And so you refused me?" said the girl standing up. "Look at me!" She stretched her hands out and stood boldly, defiantly, before him. "You refused me! Many men have wooed me," many men have sought me for a wife. I did not love you. I don't love you, but I might have loved you. You might have had me. You say I am the dearest desire of your heart. A little silence, a paper, torn in two, a momentary forgetfulness, and I should have been yours." She picked the paper up from the table as she spoke and held it before her. "I don't see any way of keeping this out of the papers unless we could burn up the plants or close 'em down some way, which I'd like to have the job of doing. But we ain't bent yet."

"This man that's posing as an angel of virtue before the people of New York and talking reform and so on is an adulterer, a thief, and a self-confessed murderer."

"What?" roared the man present. "You're dreaming! You're mad!"

"I am, am I? Well, you just wait," returned the chief, "and you'll find I'm the sanest man in the whole bunch. You know the other night when you was jammin' through the fascias at the city hall and Gormly made his great play?"

"Yes," one of my men—I had a bunch of plain clothes men scattered through the crowd—with his eyes and ears open heard a man say, lookin' at Gormly standin' up on that automobile and givin' the crowd his infernal rot. 'Well, if that ain't a dead ringer for a boy named George Fordyce that I used to know back in Kill Devil Camp in Wyoming twenty-five years ago. I'll bet my hat! My man sized up the speaker at once. He was a big western man free of speech as he was with his money. His name's Bill Hamilton, and he's a big Montana mine owner. They call him Colonel, out there. They struck up a friendship right away, had a few drinks together, and my man got enough out of him to get on the trail of the story we been lookin' for without Hamilton in the least suspectin' what he was after. I sent a dozen of the smartest men on the force out to Wyoming to rustle up old inhabitants of Kill Devil Camp, which has long since been blotted off the map. It seems that this Gormly, or Fordyce, or whatever his name is, once run away with a mine's wife, that robbin' him of his pile and shootin' the miner."

The little group of men listened to the chief's startling story in a fever of excitement and surprise, which Connell greatly enjoyed.

"Now, we know that he never came to New York with no woman," he said. "We've got his whole history from the day he landed here, every minute of it. We reasoned that the woman must have deserted him, or he he naturally she'd make for one of the big cities, especially if she had the money. We believed that she had it; for he had practically none when he landed. He went to work as a clerk in a store at five dollars a week. A woman like that'd be pretty sure to turn up on the town somewhere soon, or for later. We've got a detailed history of everyone of 'em here and elsewhere. If she went down to the gutter, she'd be dead. If she went up to the parlor, she'd be alive still. It was only necessary to 'look' among those that are runnin' the thing. We found one, who'd come from Wyoming. I went to see her myself, and I've got her confession here." He hauled a paper out of his pocket. "She didn't want to tell nothing about it. She don't come out of it especially creditable; but we had means to make her. All we got to get now is the stuff from Wyoming, a witness or two to identify Gormly with Fordyce, and that's the end of him."

Connell snapped his finger in derision.

"Has the woman seen the man?" asked Benson as soon as he could get his breath.

"Gormly?"

"Does he still—"

"Lord, he don't know she's on the earth."

"Is she sure he is the man?"

"She says so."

"Has she never tried to blackmail him?"

"Never. She's glad enough to let him alone, I guess."

"Why isn't she witness enough then?" asked the district attorney.

"Well, she's mixed up in it in rather a nasty way. She's afraid she'll suffer if her part of it is made public."

"I can fix that," said Rutherford coolly enough. "A promise of immunity, and—"

"She don't do it," returned the chief. "You can drive these women just so far, and there you stop. Besides, it ain't never goin' to come into court."

"What do you mean?" asked Benson.

"I mean," said Connell emphatically, "that Gormly is goin' to give up the game."

"Give up the game!" repeated Hamilton.

"That's what I said. It's goin' to be put up to him as to whether he wants this told or whether he withdraws from the field."

"You might back your 'put up' to him with a warrant for murder, I believe," said the district attorney. "The evidence is what you say, I'll have charges preferred against him."

"All right," answered the chief. "Mr. Rutherford and I will fix that up. Now, gentlemen, you leave this to me. I am accustomed to deal with criminals, and I'll fix Gormly. I ought to have said the district attorney."

"He's an Adulterer, a Thief, and a Self-Confessed Murderer!"

have all the reports in my hands the day after tomorrow."

"Wouldn't it be well to spring it tonight?"

"Hardly. Besides it's too late. Not even Gormly himself could keep the stuff out of the papers now."

"I guess now, Mr. Hamilton," said Rutherford, as the assembly dissolved, and the two found themselves alone, together, the others being gone, "that you are rather glad than otherwise that your bribe did not work."

"Yes, I suppose so. I don't know," answered Hamilton brokenly. "I had heard some intimations of this, nothing definite. Connell has been very close mouthed. I tried to bluff Gormly with the interest of the stranger in the disclosure is going to have. I don't know how true it is. It seems rather suspicious."

"Connell had better be careful what he does," returned Rutherford. "He'd better be very sure of his facts."

"Why did you leave the handling of the affair to him?"

"Well, he made a good scapegoat. If anything went wrong," answered Rutherford with cynical indifference. "Now, as it happened, Colonel Bill Hamilton was not so useless as he looked. After the first excitement and the first few confidences over the drinks which he gave to the plain clothes man who had so adroitly sought to get his story on that evening's paper, Colonel Bill shut up like a clam. The interest of the stranger in the story was suspicious. Colonel Bill knew a great many things that he had not told, and did not intend to tell us less it was necessary. Therefore, he soon got rid of his new friend and went to his room to think it over."

He was morally certain that Gormly and the man whom he had known as a boy as George Fordyce were one and the same. Fortunately he had always liked Fordyce, and he was not disposed to do anything that would injure him.

Of course he had heard, as had everyone else in the United States, of the remarkable campaign of George Gormly for the mayoralty of New York. He had not had a great amount of personal interest in the matter, however.

But when he saw the "identified" Gormly with Fordyce, the affair at once engaged his keenest attention. Since the day he had left Kill Devil Camp, he had never heard one word of either the man or the woman. He had supposed, as everyone else had, that they had perished in the storm, and although their bodies had never been recovered there were plenty of reasons to account for that.

What was he to do? Was he to see Gormly, or Fordyce as he called him, and put him on his guard? Or was he to wait and be governed by circumstances? This was not an easy problem to decide; but Colonel Bill Hamilton finally came to the conclusion that his best game was the waiting one. Better to wait, he played a lone hand, and he felt every confidence that he could do it.

Meanwhile he determined to fortify himself with such evidence as he could secure, and at the proper time, if the story was ferreted out and an attempt was made to make use of it, he would, as he phrased it, "butt into the game," which he did in a few minutes later into the penance's stable—Chicago News.

strength in the election, now three days off. With all the machinery in their hands, with all the facilities for promoting fraud at their disposal, they were nevertheless by no means assured that they could so control affairs as to win out.

The stocks of the Gotham Freight Traction company had fallen off terrifically, and every other interest furthered by the syndicate of which Hamilton was the head had suffered accordingly. The city was on the verge of a tremendous panic. Unrest, excitement, uncertainty, were in the air. The people had been aroused to never before. The great multitude of them were resolute and determined to break up once and forever the ring that had dominated the city and put at the head of it the man. The members of the Sackem society and the forces of the administration were equally determined that this should not be done.

MARK TWAIN'S CLOTHES.

The Great Humorist Always Had a Key to His Personal Effect.

At the time of our first meeting Mark Twain was wearing a sea-suit, with the fur out, in the satisfaction of a captive or the love of strong effect which he was apt to indulge through life. Fields, the publisher, was present.

I do not know what droll comment was in Fields' mind with respect to the garment, but probably he felt that there was an original who was not to be brought to any Bostonian book in the judgment of his vivid qualities. With his crest of dense red hair and the wide sweep of his flaming mustache Clemens was not discordantly clothed in that sea-suit coat, which afterward, in spite of his own warmth in it, sent the cold chills through me when I once accompanied him down Broadway, and shared the immense publicity it won him.

Clemens had always a relish for personal effect, which expressed itself in the white suit of complete serge which he wore in his last years and in the Oxford gown which he put on every possible occasion and said he would like to wear all the time. That was not vanity in him, but a keen feeling for costume which the severity of our modern tailoring forbids men, though it flatters women to every excess in it.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine.

HIS BLACK EYE.

How He Got It and the Worst That Came of It.

"Gracious! That's a peach of a black eye. Where did you get it?"

"Got it on the left side of my nose. Where did you think I got it—over the ankle bone?"

"Don't get heated. How did it all happen?"

"That's different. It was all a piece of my own foolish luck. I was up on the Blue Cliff road looking at a place of real estate when along came a coatless and bareheaded fellow running for dear life with a lot of panting pursuers stretching in a long line behind him. I joined in the chase. Being fresh, I rapidly overhauled the fugitive. I had nearly collared him when a big ruffian grabbed me and professed to tell me to clear out. I spoke rudely to him and kept on running, and he suddenly reached out a fat like a hammer and knocked me into a ditch. And what do you suppose it all was?"

"Give it up."

"It was a rehearsal for a moving picture film, and now my portrait will go all over the country and be seen in the eyes of thousands of people."

"It was a rehearsal for a moving picture film, and now my portrait will go all over the country and be seen in the eyes of thousands of people."

"That's different. It was all a piece of my own foolish luck. I was up on the Blue Cliff road looking at a place of real estate when along came a coatless and bareheaded fellow running for dear life with a lot of panting pursuers stretching in a long line behind him. I joined in the chase. Being fresh, I rapidly overhauled the fugitive. I had nearly collared him when a big ruffian grabbed me and professed to tell me to clear out. I spoke rudely to him and kept on running, and he suddenly reached out a fat like a hammer and knocked me into a ditch. And what do you suppose it all was?"

"Give it up."

KANSAS HONORS BROWN'S DEEDS

Hero of Osawatimie Praised by Speech, Monument and Memorial Park at Scenes of Famous Battle For Free State.

By J. A. EDGERTON.
John Brown's body lies a-moldering in the grave, but his spirit is marching on.

THAT was the song sung from Bull Run to Appomattox. Its music, rolled from thousands of soldiers' throats near Washington, inspired John Brown to write "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." High were heard for four years, by soldiers, on the march and amid the muskets' tattoo in battle.

Apparently John Brown's soul is still marching on, as what amounts to a national celebration is being held in his honor. On Aug. 30 and 31 John Brown park, is dedicated at Osawatimie, Kan., and no less a man than Colonel Theodore Roosevelt makes the dedication speech. In his own day Brown was called a madman and was hanged as a criminal, yet fifty-one years after his death the foremost citizen of the republic travels halfway across the continent to speak his praises.

The park, which consists of a little more than twenty-two acres of rolling ground, half of it covered by a growth of oak and hickory trees, comprises the old battlefield of Osawatimie. The woman's relief corps of Kansas bought it and presented it to the state, thus paralleling the action of another body of patriots, women who preserved Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Dedication on Anniversary.

The exercises begin on Aug. 30 with anniversary and settlers' day, which will be given over to services in memory of the day fifty-four years ago, the battle occurring Aug. 30, 1856.

Colonel Roosevelt arrives on Aug. 31, on which day there is a parade participated in by Roosevelt and his party, the governor of the state and his staff, the department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic and his staff, the membership of the Woman's Relief corps and other societies.

The president has ordered a detail of two troops of the Fifteenth cavalry from Fort Leavenworth and the regimental band of the Thirtieth infantry from Fort Riley to assist in the parade. The governor has detailed two of the crack companies of the state militia for the week.

The dedicatory services are held in the afternoon in conformity with a program prepared by the ladies of this state department. There are also readings on Sept. 1. This is political day and is thrown open to all comers for political speaking, as the state campaign is being opened at that time.

The G. A. R. posts are to be present in a body with equipment, prepared to camp for several days. The state department of the Veterans' Association of the Spanish-American war acts as personal escort for Roosevelt.

One of the interesting features of the celebration is that Clifford Pinchot and James R. Garfield are scheduled to speak with Roosevelt. As Kansas is an insurgent territory the combination ought to produce fireworks. Think of these three on progressive ground on John Brown day? What new crusade might not be launched? More serious still, the following day is to be thrown wide open for political oratory.

Kansas Still Moving.

No use talking, John Brown's soul is marching on right now, and the drumbeat to which it keeps step is to be heard at this three day celebration at Osawatimie. Insurrection is still in the air, the echoes from those Kansas primaries are yet reverberating, and the spirit of freedom is not dead.

John Brown's body lies on a new grave as it is sure to the music of today by men who are solving today's problems. The old hero is Kansas' patron saint, and Kansas is moving once more. Colonel Roosevelt's talk at Osawatimie is on governmental questions, and we all know what that means. Osawatimie may be historic for more events than one.

This is by no means the first celebration on the ground of the old battlefield. Four years ago the old battle anniversary of the fight was observed, and Vice President Fairbanks was the chief orator. Twenty-nine years earlier a monument was dedicated to Captain Brown and his son, and followers who fell on this field. Governor John P. St. John spoke, and Senator John James Ingalls delivered the oration of the day. Of John Brown Senator Ingalls said:

"In any age or country or under any system where abuses existed, that needed correction he would have been a reformer in politics and a Puritan in religion. He would have gone with Huss to the stake or with Sidney to the scaffold."

Two of Osawatimie's noted relics are the John Brown cabin and the John Brown monument. When the shaft was set up the main street of the town ran north of it, and it fronts north, but will be turned to face the main street, which now runs south of it. Beginning with the north side, the legends read: "This inscription is in commemoration of the heroism of Captain John Brown, who commanded at the battle of Osawatimie, Aug. 30, 1856, and who died and conquered on the scaffold at Charlestown, Va., Dec. 2, 1859." On the west side of the monument is the name of Frederick Brown, who was shot down in cold blood on the morning of Aug. 30, 1856. On the south side are the names of ness. He established a home among them and became "a sort of father" to them, as he said at the outset he wished to do. At this New York home he was buried, and "there his family lived for years after his tragic death."

Brown did not spend much time in the wilderness, however, even to become a father to the fugitives. He was intensely interested in the movement for a free Kansas and was active in sending colonists to the territory. Among the earliest who went were his own sons. The old man himself soon followed with a rifle in one hand and a Bible in the other. He was a most religious man and was especially fond of the Old Testament and loved the story of Gideon.

John Brown was like an Old Testament character himself, a sort of Kansas Gideon. His religion was not of the meek and lowly order, however. It was a fighting faith. From the time he changed the five proslavery men at Pottawatomie—that was before Osawatimie—to the sad end at Harpers Ferry he never once faltered in his militant attitude. And in that last act of the drama he stirred the entire north as before he had stirred Kansas.

There are many sayings of John Brown worthy to live. Here is one, probably uttered in relation to the death of his boy:

"Do not allow any one to say I acted from revenge. I claim no man has a
